30 May 2006 Saltram House, Nr Plymouth

Tuesday 30th May - Evening visit to Saltram House, Nr Plymouth, The National Trust are kindly hosting an evening visit to the parkland at Saltram House near Plymouth. John Banfield, the warden for Saltram, will guide us round this site which has some impressive ancient trees.

Please meet at the main car park at 7pm. From the A38, head for the Marsh Mills roundabout outside Plymouth and then take the road for Plympton. There are brown signs off this road directing you to Saltram.

Terrain will be easy going but walking boots are advised. Mobile contact on the night will be 07734 568949. If you would like to attend please contact Kate Tobin below:-

17 June 2006 Veteran Trees Training Day

This day is hosted by the Neroche Landscape Partnership Scheme and the venue will be close to the Somerset/Devon border. Ted Green and Jill Butler will be there, as well as consultants who are currently carrying out a veteran tree survey for the project. This event will be free - Ring Gavin Saunders on 01823 680 846 to book places.

August Escot

Proposed joint meeting with Arb Association and including a demo - KT /Simon Major to organise.

Nov Clovelly

As both Cornwall and the Neroche Project in Somerset have events in the spring, KT has tried to choose an early date and venue that doesn't clash with theirs.

The parkland inventory

KT says:

"The parkland inventory that KA mentioned to KT in an email sounds like a great idea but KT doesn't know what it would involve in terms of coordination and collating data. KT wishes to discuss this properly via email or through meeting."

Need for expert assistance

KT would welcome some expert input within the next 4 - 8 weeks (both in the Shute area).

PR/articles

KT notes there is a need for a strategy for PR and articles to ensure that information is in the most important magazines.
