

Ancient Trees – Securing their Future

The Ancient Tree Forum and the Woodland Trust work together to ensure our ancient trees are:

- given national and European recognition
- managed sustainably
- registered on a UK map

Jon Parsons

Ancient Tree Forum and The Woodland Trust

Simon Webb

Find out more visit our web site:

www.ancient-tree-forum.org.uk

or phone:

+44 (0)1476 581135

or write to:

The Ancient Tree Forum, c/o the Woodland Trust,
Autumn Park, Grantham, NG31 6LL

The Ancient Tree Forum is a registered charity, number 1071012.

The Woodland Trust is a registered charity, number 294344.
Registered in England number 1982873.

Both are non-profit making companies limited by guarantee.

Cover image: Ted Green

Ancient trees Our living heritage

Meeting Ancient Trees

The Ancient Tree Forum organises events across the UK.

Any one with an interest in ancient trees is welcome.

Safeguarding ancient trees

For advice on the management of ancient trees, take a look at www.ancient-tree-forum.org.uk or read our Ancient Tree Guides and other publications.

Contribute to our ancient tree knowledge – register on the discussion forum and sign up to receive an e-newsletter.

Mapping ancient trees

The Ancient Tree Hunt is a nationwide search to map all the fat, old trees in the Kingdom. They are very special – and you can help us make sure they live into the future. Start recording now on www.ancient-tree-hunt.org.uk

This project is funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund and Esmee Fairbairn Foundation.

The Ancient Tree Forum

The Forum brings together like-minded people to:

- champion protection of ancient trees
- exchange experience
- promote good management practice
- increase people's awareness and enjoyment of ancient trees
- encourage research

www.ancient-tree-forum.org.uk