

Survey 2011

Introduction

The Cornwall Ancient Tree Forum is a network of interested people with an elected Board to help organise events, learning activities and undertake tree recording. Its latest project was "The Great Trees of Cornwall" managed by a project officer, Loveday Jenkin, who coordinated and planned a range of activities a learning CD for schools and extensive recording over the last three years to support the national 'Ancient Tree Hunt'.

The 'Great Trees of Cornwall' project comes to a close at the end of June and the Forum will no longer have the staff and finances that came with it. However, the good news is that it was remarkably successful and now has a network of more than 200 volunteers, professionals and enthusiastic individuals, including yourself, who are interested in looking after the special trees of Cornwall.

In order to plan for the next couple of years activities, we really need to know what resources and skills are out there and just what you would like to get out of the Forum.

So please take a minute or two to complete the attached survey and return it to us by email, or the address below. We promise to keep you updated about the results of the Great Trees project and plans for next year.
