

Volunteering for Wildlife Conference 24th September 2005

London Wildlife Trust invites you for the biggest event in the volunteering calendar!

London's conservation volunteers will learn from each other how best to tackle the threats and challenges to London's biodiversity.

This is an excellent opportunity to share your experiences, participate in a wide range of workshops and meet other volunteers!

Expert speakers will lead on workshops:

Climate change
Design for biodiversity
Invasive species
Planning for Wildlife
Waterways for biodiversity
Tree planting - yes or no?
Good meadows management
Biodiversity Action Plans

The conference is free to volunteers from all London's conservation organisations!
